With a final flourish, County Warden Dalton MacDonald cuts the ribbon to mark the official opening of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce office on Wednesday. Assisting the Warden were Chamber president Ken Langdon, centre, and Anson, Hindon and Minden Reeve Lyle McKnight.

Chamber office ribbon cut

Wednesday was a red letter day for the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce as chamber employees, board members, media representatives and county politicians gathered to celebrate the official opening of the new chamber office on the Minden bypass.

Following the adjournment of the county council meeting, reeves and deputy reeves from across the county drove to the new office where they were greeted by chamber manager, Shirley Rapson.

Addressing the assembled guests, chamber president Ken Langdon said the construction of the new facility was a direct result of the confidence of the board members in the future of the chamber, the confidence of the county council who provided financial assistance in the project and the confidence of the residents of the Highlands.

He stressed the importance of united efforts in promoting the county and attracting visitors from the rest of Canada and the northern United States. By increasing the number of tourists who visit this area, "We can increase meaningful job opportunities for both young and old," he said.

Following the brief address, county warden Dalton MacDonald and Anson, Hindon and Minden Reeve Lyle McKnight assisted Langdon in the cutting of a ribbon of Haliburton County tartan.

The ceremony completed, pipe major Earl Cooper led the guests into the offices where a light lunch was served.

New angling rules challenged

A proposed policy change announced recently by the Ministry of Natural Resources to close four lakes in Haliburton County to winter fishing has come under some criticism from several members of County Council. The policy which is slated to come into effect in 1987, is being proposed to improve the supply of naturally reproducing lake trout according to the MNR.

At the bimonthly meeting of council on Wednesday, Dysart et al Reeve Murray Fearrey, described the proposed program as being based on good intentions but argued the program has shortcomings. Using Drag Lake in Dysart Township as an example, he predicted that when the lake is closed to winter fishing, nearby Miskwabi Lake will be affected as anglers turn to an alternative trout lake.

"If you can't fish in one lake you fish in the one beside it," he said, arguing the closure of Drag Lake will have a significant impact on the trout population of Miskwabi Lake.

As an alternative to closures, Reeve Fearrey suggested a shorter season or the issuing of licences.

Sherborne et al deputy reeve Don Shortreed, saw difficulties in enforcing the ban on winter fishing. Noting the program only applies to lake trout, Shortreed argued the ban should apply to all species to make it easier for conservation officers to enforce the regulations.

Warden Dalton MacDonald agreed with the two members of council and suggested a letter be written to the MNR outlining the concerns.

Biologist Wayne Wilson of the Ministry of Natural Resources in Minden, clarified several points of the proposed program in a telephone conversation with The Times on Tuesday.

Wilson confirmed that the ministry had been aware of the problems of enforcing the ban and consequently proposed that the lakes be closed to all winter fishing of all species.

Hopes raised over canoe museum in Haliburton

Hopes are starting to grow that the Kanawa International Canoe collection will finally find a permanent home on the site chosen by the Haliburton County Historical Society in Glebe Park, Haliburton.

After more than a year and a half since the Kanawa Museum's board of directors invited interested parties to submit proposals for a new location for the collection, the local group feels things are starting to come their way. Former society chairman Frank Wallace and the present chairman, Ross Carver, explained in an interview earlier this week that they had received encouraging letters from the museum's board of directors and the founder of the collection, Kirk Wipper. In the letters, the organization and founder indicated they were willing to allow the Haliburton County group access to the world-class collection, if they provide a suitable building in which to display and hold the water craft.

This latest display of interest by those in control of the collection is in sharp contrast to the situation late last year when it was announced that the major portion of the collection would be going to a site in Port Hope with a possibility of a satellite museum in the Haliburton area.

However, these latest letters would seem to indicate that the Haliburton proposal has since become the leading contender in the bidding for the collection.

At present the museum is housed in a number of log structures on property adjacent to Camp Kandalore in Stanhope Township. Over the years, concern has been growing about the safety of the collection, which contains many one-of-a-kind items. The buildings are not heated nor protected against fire or other hazards. Many of the exhibits require proper climatic conditions to protect them against deterioration.

When the museum board announced they were actively seeking a new location for the exhibits, a local committee was selected to consider a number of sites within the county. This local committee chose the Glebe Park location, adjacent to the Haliburton Highlands Museum. The property, which is being offered by the municipality of Dysart, fronts on Head Lake, almost directly opposite the community's downtown section.

Even though the Kanawa Board of Directors appeared to favour the Port Hope site in its early considerations, the Haliburton Highlands Historical Society continued to pursue its interest in obtaining the museum. The group has had an architect prepare preliminary sketches of what a proposed 40,000 square foot museum structure with a 600 square foot auditorium attached, might look like. While the representatives were reluctant to reveal any estimate of the cost of such a structure and the additional expenses related to a museum, they did admit the undertaking would cost "several million dollars". They have drafted a preliminary budget for the costs and funding of the proposal.

Eakins visits

This past weekend Wallace and Carver took advantage of the presence of Ontario Cabinet meeting at Pinestone Inn to show Victoria-Haliburton MPP and Minister of Tourism John Eakins, the proposed site. While they toured the location on Sunday, Eakins said he was impressed by the site. He noted that individuals who live in a community are often not aware of the many attributes their area had to offer and suggested that promotion was the key to placing the Highlands on the list of places tourists want to visit.

The MPP was unable to offer any firm proposals at this time and noted that another provincial ministry, Culture and Recreation, was responsible for museum funding in Ontario. However, he did say he would be willing to provide the local efforts with his support.

Eakins also noted that if a project of this size was to proceed, it would need the support of all sectors of the county. He suggested that this was not a project which one area could hope to successfully undertake on its own.

He commented as well, he wasn't aware of the previous problems relating to ownership of the collection and said this matter must be resolved before any new undertaking could begin.

Both Carver and Wallace said they are aware of the hurdles which must be overcome in getting a project of this magnitude underway. They suggested that the recent letters of commitment from The Kanawa Board of directors and Kirk Wipper, the man who started the collection, provides a first step in resolving these concerns.

While the society is unable to offer anything concrete at this time, both representatives feel that the momentum has started to flow in their direction. They plan to meet with the Kanawa Board of directors this weekend in Haliburton and will be continuing to search out sources of funding.

The representatives also report strong support from the board of directors at Sir Sanford Fleming College and Trent University in Peterborough who are interested in expanding courses and research related to the collection.

They admit, while a strong local financial input is required to indicate a commitment on the part of the community, the largest source of funding for the project will be federal and provincial agencies associated with museums and interested in seeing the collection preserved and displayed properly. These sources of funds have yet to be nailed down, but the society's representatives are optimistic they will come available soon. Looking at the scheme's most positive outcome, they suggest it could be possible to see the start of construction at the Glebe Park location early next year.

In the meantime, they plan to continue to build the case in favour of the Highlands location and hope that the necessary funding can be found to support the undertaking.

International affairs discussed at meeting

The quiet rural beauty of the Haliburton Highlands was the unlikely setting for discussions on international trade between representatives of senior levels of government over the past three days. The key players in the talks held at the PineStone Inn and Country Club, were Ontario Premier David Peterson, Federal Trade Minister James Kelleher and the newly appointed provincial trade advisor Robert Latimer.

The trade talks were held in conjunction with a meeting of the Provincial Cabinet on Sunday and the Liberal caucus on Monday.

Preparations for the meetings, the first ever held by the new Liberal government outside Queen's Park, began last week when Ontario Provincial Police officers conducted security checks at the luxury resort. The specially trained squad of Ontario Provincial Police officers checked the meeting room and private suites used by the politicians. Using special equipment they swept the entire complex searching for potential security leaks.

The ever-present band of reporters and cameramen were often the only sign the talks were being held at the resort, since all the meetings were held behind closed doors.

At the conclusion of the discussions over the impending free trade talks between the Amercian and Canadian governments, James Kelleher emerged into the bright afternoon sun and was immediately surrounded by several dozen media representatives carrying tape recorders and video cameras.

Kelleher had no major announcement to make, describing the hour long meeting with the premier as constructive and amicable. "We explored all areas in a positive manner," he said, adding that he does not see problems in future discussions and that he expects the federal Tories to "cooperate fully" with the province.

Considering the fact that Kelleher arrived in the county by helicopter, the meeting cost the Canadian taxpayers far more than a telephone conversation, but Kelleher said "The face to face meeting was more acceptable to me, and far more constructive than a long distance telephone call."

Following the departure of the federal trade minister, David Peterson emerged from PineStone ready to answer the questions of the press. The premier said he had made the trade minister aware of the province's concerns over the effect free trade would have on Ontario industries. The meeting had been constructive he said but noted, "We weren't bargaining or negotiating," adding, "I don't have the impression they are going to run roughshod over us."

Peterson said he expected discussions with the federal government to continue and indicated he intends to travel to Washington, not necessarily to lobby, but to negotiate with the U.S. government.

So in spite of the fact that there was no "Haliburton Accord," the meetings held in the Highlands this week may have a significant effect on future talks on international trade relations. The meetings also put Haliburton on the map, if only briefly, as the correspondents sign off their reports with a brief reference to "Haliburton" or in some instances, "near Minden."

Bouquets

As the first frosts of September nip at the flower beds, we think it is time to throw out a few bouquets to those hard working citizens who do so much to make our community the pleasant place it is.

- To the municipality and the Parks and Recreation Committee for the improvements to the children's playground next to the township office. The efforts will be appreciated for many years to come.

- To the Minden Horticultural Society for another colourful summer. The boxes and flowerbeds provided a needed splash of colour and beauty at strategic spots throughout the village.

- To the many individuals who have indicated their faith in the community by making substantial investments in new developments. Look around and you'll see a building boom in both commercial and residential property. It can only bode well for the future of the village.

- To the Rotary Club of Minden and the municipal authorities who quietly paved the parking lot at the Minden arena. A welcome improvement for this much used facility.

- To the Haliburton County Farmers Association for their summer farmer's market. Their weekly sale, Saturday mornings, provides an outlet for locally grown produce and an attraction for visitors.

- To the Chamber of Commerce on the official opening of their new office and visitor reception centre on Highway 35. It's a great improvement.

- To the municipality, one more time, for the ever increasing riverbank improvements. The entrance to town along South Water Street is looking better all the time.

Protecting Arctic Sovereignty

- by Bill Scott, MP -

The voyage of the U.S. Coast Guard icebreaker Polar Sea, through the Northwest Passage this summer demonstrated that we must find ways of exercising our sovereign jurisdiction in this area. In this case the United States gave us a formal and explicit assurance that the voyage would not affect our legal claim to the area. The government feels however, that we must go further to protect our claim.

On September 10, 1985 Joe Clark, Secretary of State for External Affairs, announced to the House the policy of the Government of Canada in respect of Canadian sovereignty in Arctic waters.

In summary, the measures are as follows: immediate adoption of an Order in Council establishing straight baselines around the Arctic archipelago, effective January 1, 1986; immediate adoption of a Canadian Laws Offshore Application Act; immediate talks with the United States on co-operation in Arctic waters on the basis of full respect for Canadian sovereignty; an immediate increase of surveillance overflights of our Arctic waters by aircraft of the Canadian Forces, and immediate planning for Canadian naval activity in the Eastern Arctic in 1986; the immediate withdrawal of the 1970 reservation to Canada's acceptance of the compulsory jurisdiction of the International Court of Justice; construction of a polar, class 8 ice-breaker and urgent consideration of other means of exercising more effective control over our Arctic waters.

Conflict guidelines

On September 9 Brian Mulroney tabled in the House of Commons a set of documents providing detail on a package of major initiatives on public sector ethics our Government plans to implement. The seven components in the overall program are:

1. A new Conflict of Interest/Post-Employment Code for public office holders;

2. Instructions to ministers imposing specific and strict limitations on the hiring of family members;

3. Letters to opposition leaders on the subject of ethical standards for MP's and Senators;

4. An experimental program of Parliamentary scrutiny of Governor in Council appointments;

5. The registration of lobbying activity;

6. Advice to Crown Corporations respecting appropriate conduct in their dealings with the Government; and,

7. A review of the judicial appointments process.

As the Prime Minister stated in the House, "It is a great principle of public administration - I could even say an imperative - that to function effectively the government and the public service of a democracy must have the trust and confidence of the public they serve. In order to reinforce that trust, the government must be able to provide competent management and, above all, to be guided by the highest standards of conduct".

Editor:

To the Council of Anson, Hinden and Minden in regard to the purchase of a boat for cottagers in Lutterworth Township.

Why should my tax money go to pay for extra fire protection for someone who chose to be on an island? They are covered by the same protection as the rest of the taxpayers. Maintaining access to your property is your own responsibility, and if our very able and capable fire chief says the expense is not warranted, he should be listened to. That's why he is the fire chief.

A better idea for island dwellers is to form their own auxilliary fire brigade and purchase auxilliary pumps to be used until the fire fighters arrive. I am sure our fire chief and his men would be very willing to give free instructions on the use of such equipment.

Is our Council ready to purchase mini pumpers for those cottagers living back in on bush roads? Where do you draw the line?

We in Carnarvon have yet to be supplied with a litter container although one was requested. It seems, some parts of the township have no problems with their wants. No one seems to know we are here until tax time. Let's remember at election time.

Anne McKay,

Editor:

That double-paged spread you carried on the unusual miniature "River Boat" built by Ron Clemens of Cambridge was, to me, unusually interesting.

It seemed a most impractical craft, but through the linkage of names, "Clemens" and "Clem's Belle" one could understand the Cambridge man's interest. Then, of course, being a "fan" of of Samuel Langhorne Clemens alias, "Mark Twain" my interest was quickened.

Too, the original "Clem Clemens" or Mark Twain, was editor of a little weekly newspaper in Hannibal, Missouri. This makes him a "special guy" in my esteem and it was nice to know that he had other fans in Ontario.

Your story with ones from the Teeswater News and the Burford Advance make up the text for "Report from the Country" to be presented with the late news on Saturday, October 5.

My thanks to you and yours for this assistance and of course, for keeping The Times in my mail box each and every week.

Federation of Ontario Naturalists

Effort underway to preserve history contained in community newspapers

Over the next 2 - 3 weeks, one of nature's most spectacular pilgrammages gets underway - right here in Ontario. Monarch butterflies - at their peak abundance in many years thanks to a snowy winter, dry spring and cool summer - are beginning to trek southward. And, thanks to a geographical quirk, southern Ontario offers superb viewing opportunities.

A thousand mile migration is a staggering feat for such a fragile looking insect. Yet, these butterflies will migrate from throughout Ontario - indeed throughout eastern North America - to a single overwintering jungle location in southern Mexico, with staggering accuracy. Extensive work by Dr. F. Urquardt of University of Toronto's Scarborough Campus has documented the fascinating life cycle, but nobody knows how they achieve the remarkable feats of stamina and navigation necessary. It is like you or I navigating right around the world three or four times in a seven foot boat, with no maps or compasses amid a continuous sea of currents and storms.

During this migration, butterflies tend to "pile up" along the shore of the Great Lakes, awaiting the near-perfect weather conditions they need to cross the lakes without landing. At major points like Long Point and Point Pelee on Lake Erie, and even the new Leslie Street Spit on Lake Ontario, large concentrations of these butterflies accumulate. Just before dusk, they will - by some unknown basis - choose a branch or whole tree and cloak it with hundreds to thousands of butterflies.

These butterfly trees are often used for years. I know of one (thoroughly unremarkable) maple in a Scarborough ravine which has been used for at least seven years. And each fall, we get calls about similar spectacles along the lake's bluffs, in Toronto's High Park, and at many other locations. These monarch trees are best seen around Ontario in mid to late September; they appear in dramatic numbers at Point Pelee about the third week of September. The ideal conditions are a major cold front, which forces the butterflies down and a south wind holding them back from crossing the lakes.

The monarch's life cycle is also intriguing. Beginning as one of hundreds upon hundreds of eggs laid each summer by adult monarchs, the caterpillars hatch as miniscule yellow and green banded worms. Munching their way through a third or more of their body weight every day in milkweed leaves they grow rapidly through four molts,

Newspapers have played a vital role in the development of the province of Ontario and its many communities. They informed, entertained, documented day to day events and patterns of life, and served as a forum for discussion of the issues of the day. Now they have been discovered by the historian, the genealogist, the researcher and the student as an important document to study the evolution of the changing communities they belonged to. In many cases the existence and survival of our pioneer newspapers reflected the triumph of journalistic optimism over the ever changing fortunes of the newspaper business. Can we do less than to ensure their continued care and preservation.

According to a recent survey by Dorothy Templin, an expert in the field of historic newspapers, commissioned by the National Library of Canada, Ontaro's 3500 newspaper titles are in trouble. Not only is there no comprehensive inventory of Ontario newspapers, including their location and condition, but due to the natural aging or breakdown of the paper, accelerated by the increased use for research purposes, many newspaper files which have never been microfilmed, are in danger of physical disintegration. In 1979 in the "Future of the National Library of Canada", the National Librarian recommended the development of a nationwide decentralized plan for the preservation of Canadian newspapers as support for research in Canadian Studies, a plan that emphasises the role of the provinces in such an endeavour.

To date, Ontario is the furthest behind every other province in responding to this challenge, even though we have the largest pool of papers requiring preservation. At the present time it is not known how many local newspapers have never been microfilmed, or, are filmed so poorly that the work must be re-done. Organizing the preservation of these newspapers for which no retrospective microfilming program exists, is estimated by one informed source to likely cost up to $500,000 for high quality microfilming, and to take up to 5 years to complete. Financial support for this costly undertaking will be sought from local libraries and museums, the newspaper industry, community organizations, foundations, and the Province of Ontario. The complexity, cost and its great value to the future make the co-operative aspects of this entire project essential.

The Task Group on Ontario Newspapers was formed in response to Legislative Librarian Brian Land's request for Ontario to become committed to the preservation of this province's newspapers. Land, also the Chairman of the National Library Advisory Board Resource Network Committee agrees that Templin's work makes very clear the job to be done is enormous. At this time the members of the Task Group are: Co-Chair Karen Harrison of Delhi Public Library; Co-Chair William Partridge of Huron County Public Library; Grover Burgis, Brampton Public Library; Elizabeth Callaghan, Ontario Community Newspapers Association; William Cooper, Archives of Ontario; Mary Dickerson, Legislative Library; Linda Kerns, Guelph Public Library and Allen Steel, Microfilm Equipment Services, headquartered in Toronto.

The objectives of the Task Group are to:

1. Compile a checklist of all Ontario newspapers.
2. Promote awareness of the project and to solicit the co-operation of local communities, municipal councils, public libraries, historical societies, and all interested parties.
3. Develop a plan to facilitate the annual and retrospective microfilming of those newspapers for which there is not, at present, a microfilming program.

The Task Group estimates that it will take up to two years to accomplish its goals to publish the comprehensive checklist of newspapers published in Ontario. This will be facilitated by surveying agencies in Ontario and elsewhere to gather bibliographic information and holdings of all newspapers published in Ontario. The checklist will include newspaper titles of which there are no known holdings.

The second challenge facing the Task Group will be to organize the preservation of newspapers themselves, whether they are in their original newsprint format or in microform. Newsprint is a fragile medium at best; regrettably, some of this part of our material history is already lost. The longevity of microforms is not specifically known although it is estimated that under proper storage conditions processed microfilm will have a shelf life of about 100 years. It is essential therefore that improved storage for film and access to reliable reading and printing equipment be made available.

A new program undertaken by the Ontario Community Newspapers Association (O.C.N.A.) promises to solve the annual microfilming problem for over 270 Ontario Community Weeklies. Commencing with January 1985 issues, these papers are filmed within their week of publication and each issue produced into microfiche. The product is available for purchase. O.C.N.A. suggests that you contact them for further information at 1184 Speers Road, P.O. Box 451, Oakville, Ontario, L6J 5A8, or phone 1-416-844-0184.

As of April 1985, Brian Gilchrist, an experienced newspaper researcher and the Task Group's newly appointed Project Director, had begun to work on the compilation of the checklist. Mr. Gilchrist has stressed that co-operation from the agencies which are custodians of the newspaper files will be essential to the completion of the project. Timely disclosure of the extent and conditions of newspapers maintained by public institutions and in fact private holdings such as those held by local newspaper offices is being sought by the Task Group project Director. At the same time, plans are underway to fund the costly but important task of microfilming newspapers whose need for preservation is imperative.

Should anyone have information concerning the holdings of public institutions or private sources they are requested to contact Mr. Gilchrist at: Box 176, Station M, Toronto, Ontario. M6S 4T3 or phone collect: 1-416-233-9636.

We need your help

The Times is taking an active interest in the preservation and cataloguing of Ontario weekly newspapers, particularly those relating to our community. The Times was published under the masthead of the Minden Progress prior to late 1978, however we have very few copies of the newspaper under this name in our possession. As well, ,the first newspaper to be published in the county was started in Minden under the Minden Echo masthead.

We have in our possession all newspapers published under The Times banner and will be taking part in the microfilming program explained in the accompanying article. We ask our readers, if they have copies of the Minden Progress 1978 and earlier, or The Minden Echo, or any other newspaper published in this community to contact The Times office at 286-1288 or by writing Box 97, Minden, Ontario K0M 2K0. (Those holding back issues of The Haliburton County Echo, prior to 1977, or The Minden Recorder, should contact the Haliburton County Echo office in Haliburton at 457-1037.)

REWARDING THEIR EFFORTS

Being a good kid these days takes a lot of effort. But being an exceptional kid deserves special recognition. That's what the Junior Citizens Program, sponsored by CP Air and Ontario Community Newspapers Association is all about. It honours the young people of Ontario who through acts of kindness or courage, selflessness or hard work offer a shining example of good citizenship.

All we ask is that you make nominations of children you feel ought to be rewarded for their efforts. Nominees should be between ages of 6 and 18. Nominations must be received before October 31, 1985. Twelve recipients will receive a plaque, a cash prize, a family photo portrait with the Lieutenant Governor of Ontario and a lapel pin.

JUNIOR CITIZEN'S PROGRAM

We all know kids who deserve recognition. Let's honour them this year!

from the chamber

Our official opening was a great event. Pipe Major Earl Cooper of the Legion Pipe Band piped for our County Council and Board of Directors as they arrived. Following an outdoor ribbon cutting and brief remarks by the Warden, Mr. Dalton MacDonald, and Chamber President, Mr. Ken Langdon, everyone was piped inside for refreshments and lunch.

Our community is fortunate in having so many individuals, too numerous to mention, who through their generosity and hard work have made it possible to have this bright, cheery building for us to welcome visitors to our County.

Special thanks to the following for their specific help for our opening: Bill Burden's West Guilford Shopping Centre for helping arrange for wine and cheese. Our thanks to Schneiders and Andres, Wagon Wheel Motel, Minden Home Hardware and Valu-Mart. Thank you for complementary coffee urns and coffee. Ingoldsby United Church U.C.W. had Lorna Hicks and Iola Hicks prepare for us the delicious sandwiches and sweets and many thanks to them for bringing along serving trays and pitchers. The Minden Horticultural Society planted two trees in time for our opening. We are indebted to Mr. and Mrs. Bob Harrington for their interest and hard work.

Coming events

The fall promotions, namely The Eaton Centre, The Ski Show and The Singles Show are being attended by us to represent our accommodations and activities outside our County. The Eaton Centre was a great success. For six days our Haliburton Highlands were represented front and centre in a traffic area second to none in this country.

Help!!! We at the Chamber need promotional material brought to us to prepare for a good showing at The Ski Show. We also welcome attendance by volunteers to fill the many hours. Your Chamber is being challenged as never before, as we reach a new stage in the development of our community. We have set our sights on new goals in tourism promotion and we will require the involvement and committment by all. Set aside Friday, October 18 and come to our Annual Meeting.

Kinsmen plan 1986 District meeting

Planning is already underway for a District 8 Kinsmen convention to be held in the Haliburton Highlands.

The convention, dubbed Highland '86 Fling, is scheduled for June 5,6, and 7, 1986 and is expected to attract 600 Kinsmen and Kinettes from the 76 clubs throughout the district.

The Kinsmen and Kinette Clubs of Minden, Haliburton and Gooderham-Wilberforce (South Algonquin Club) have combined their efforts to host this annual event. Bob Nichol of Haliburton and Larry Amyotte of Minden are coordinating the preparations for the event.

The visiting Kinsmen will be staying at resorts and lodges on Lake Kashagawigamog. The clubs are receiving assistance from the lakes' tourist association in the preparations for the convention. The delegates will be using the Haliburton arena and Legion for the main group activities.

More details on the convention, one of the largest to be held in this area, are expected to emerge as the date for the event draws near.

Drug taxes

During post-budget consultations with the Canadian Wholesale Drug Association, the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association, the Proprietary Association of Canada and the Canadian Diabetes Association, it was pointed out that some drugs and supplies used by patients to treat certain life-threatening illnesses such as diabetes, cardiovascular disease and respiratory ailments, are not included in the schedule of drugs that remained exempt from federal sales tax.

On September 6, Michael Wilson announced that "all the most important medications required to treat these serious illnesses will continue to qualify for exemption from federal sales tax". This will mean the continuation of sales exemption for products such as insulin syringes and infusion pumps, nitroglycerine and medical oxygen and certain other drugs for heart and respiratory disease including digoxin, digitoxin, deslanoside, erythrityl tetranitrate, isosorbide dinitrate, prenylamine, quinidine and its salts, aminophylline, oxtriphylline, theophylline, theophylline calcium aminoacetate and theophylline sodium aminoacetate.

In addition, effective September 7, 1985 the federal sales no longer applies to blood glucose test strips, urine test sticks and blood glucose monitors used by many diabetics on a daily basis.

Farm credit

It was my pleasure to attend the International Plowing Match recently. As a part of his address at the event on September 17 John Wise M.P., Minister of Agriculture, announced an immediate moratorium on Farm Credit Corporation (FCC) foreclosure actions.

As of September 17 there were approximately 670 FCC foreclosure cases in progress which will be put on hold. Recovery actions will continue in cases where the farm has been abandoned, where bankruptcy has been declared, where there has been a voluntary transfer of title or quit claim or where recovery action is initiated by another creditor forcing FCC to protect its security.

This action has been taken to assist those farmers who are currently in arrears with FCC until new initiatives are put in place which might be of assistance to them. In his statement Mr. Wise commented, "I want to make sure that no farmer will be forced off the farm while I am reviewing the role and mandate of FCC, the Bruce-Grey Debt Review Board pilot project report and reports from FCC Appeal Board Chairmen. I want to make sure that those individuals who might be assisted by new initiatives will have that opportunity."

Agricultural census

On September 17, the Minister of Agriculture and the Minister responsible for Statistics Canada announced some details of the 1986 Census of Agriculture. The Census of Agriculture monitors the changing nature of the agriculture industry in Canada. This will be done on June 3, 1986 in conjunction with the census of population.

The questions asked in this census are designed to make the information more useful and responsive to the needs of the farming community. Farm operators will be asked for information on crops, livestock, and farm machinery. It will address farm practices such as fertilizer and pesticide use. For the first time, it will also ask about the use of new developments such as office computers and tile drainage systems. Each farmer will receive, along with the questionnaire, an explanation of why the questions are being asked.

When he was making the announcement The Hon. Stewart McInnes, Minister responsible for Statistics Canada, emphasised that farmers responding to the 1986 Census of Agriculture may rest assured that all information supplied to enumerators is strictly confidential. All employees of the Census must take an oath of secrecy.

Home Support fills a vital county need

Since being incorporated in 1980, the Haliburton County Home Support Services has played an important role in the community, providing needed social and cultural services for seniors and, in doing so, has attracted the attention of any other areas in the province.

The many volunteers and few paid workers who have participated in the numerous programs offered by Home Support have enabled the organization to fulfill its mandate, which is to enable elderly and handicapped persons to remain independent in their homes for a longer period of time and to create an awareness in the community of the process of aging and the needs of the elderly.

Over 170 of those volunteers and their guests attended the fifth annual meeting on Friday at the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 129, in Haliburton.

Among the guests were representatives of three municipal councils and members of the Scarborough Home Support Services, the organization that inspired Doris McCann to begin a similar agency in this county.

Outgoing President Victoria Agnew told the packed hall the Home Support has, "continued to expand in the past year and the number of volunteers has mushroomed."

While there have been financial problems during the year due to cutbacks in funding from senior levels of government, the organization has remained solvent due in part to the assistance of local service organizations, and the County and municipal councils, she said, thanking those groups that did provide support.

An example of the growth of the Home Support was given by Home Support co-ordinator, Donna Bailey, who noted the Meals on Wheels program has expanded to include Cardiff, Kinmount and Wilberforce over the past year.

She emphasised the importance of the many services offered by Home Support in a county that has the highest percentage of seniors in all of the province adding that by the turn of the century this group will increase considerably.

The co-ordinator also noted that while there are a large number of volunteers helping others through the various programs, more volunteers are needed in some areas.

The guest speaker, Marlene Edwards, Director of the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge Home Care Service described Haliburton County as being, "one of the most exceptional areas in the province to work in." In spite of the high rate of unemployment, low wages and a high percentage of seniors, Edwards said the demand on home care services is considerably less than in other areas of southern Ontario where she has worked as a home care worker and a nurse.

"People in this county demand less from government agencies and less from Home Support," Edwards said, "because people are willing to help others on an individual basis."

She described humanistic services; education, health care, welfare and culture as evolving through four stages.

Stage one involves individuals helping each other, she suggested, as examples, people helping their neighbours, patrons supporting artists and the relationship between a doctor and patient.

The second stage involves the relationship between individuals and institutions such as schools, hospitals and museums. An example of a stage two service would be the raising of funds by community groups to construct sports facilities, churches and community centres, she said.

"Some of the intimacy of humanistic service is lost in this stage," she noted, "since individuals are separated by a layer of administration."

Government agencies enter the picture in the third stage, providing funds and services based on necessity to complement existing charity organizations and community groups.

In the fourth and terminal stage, all members of society are guaranteed an appropriate level of health care, education and cultural activities provided by a democratic government which funds such programs through taxes. Some countries in Europe have reached this stage, she said noting, "In Sweden even the churches receive government funds."

Canada is approaching this level as well. "In the 1930's 17% of the federal budget went to humanistic services," she said. "Today nearly one third of government dollars are spent on welfare, education, health care and culture."

Humanistic services have become, "big business involving billions of dollars spent annually." However, as the government has taken over many of these basic services, "The flow of funds has not kept pace with the needs," she said adding, the existence of such government programs and the current level of prosperity has inhibited the generosity of individuals. "Many people who have moved here from stage four countries don't have any sympathy with volunteerism because they are too used to getting the government to take care of humanistic services," she commented. Consequently governments have to provide six times as much financial support ot humanistic services as charitable foundations, community groups and individuals.

However, this trend is not the rule in this region. "Haliburton County has to an extend remained in stage one. The philosophy that I am my brother's keeper still prevails," she said, "That is why there are not as many demands made on Home Support."

The work of the volunteers who participate in Home Support and the staff have developed, "a distinctive model of humanistic services that is the envy of the rest of the province," she said.

Following the address by Marlene Edwards, many of those volunteers were presented with certificates honouring their contributions to the community.

The annual meeting ended with the election of executive officers and directors who represent all regions of the county.

Bob Hollobon of Kinmount was elected President.

The outgoing president Victoria Agnew was chosen as the first vice-president. Jim Wilkinson is the second vice president. Elva Robinson is the new treasurer and Lenore Gillespie the secretary.

The newly elected president Bob Hollobon thanked the past members of the executive for their work over the past year as well as the many volunteers and promised to continue all necessary services and to expand the scope of the organization.

Among the many volunteers who attended the fifth annual meeting of the Haliburton County Home Support Services Friday at Haliburton Legion were the newly elected members of the executive including, from the left, secretary Lenore Gillespie, first vice president Victoria Agnew, president Bob Hollobon and treasurer Elva Robinson.

MAJOR GLYNNE LEWIS
- LUTTERWORTH TOWNSHIP -

I am running for the office of Deputy Reeve in Lutterworth Township Council, in which I have served for the last nine years. We have achieved the best two teams in the County, both in the office and in the roads department. Procrastination being the thief of time, taxpayers problems have been dealt with as quickly as the facts presented have allowed. I have also been on county council since 1978, during which time I have served on the Childrens Services Advisory Group, both as a member and chairman, for the counties of Haliburton, Victoria, Peterborough and Peterborough City. During my chairmanship we achieved considerable services for children in the areas described. I initiated the formation of a Childrens Services Advisory Group in Haliburton County, achieving both a resident Childrens Case co-ordinator and Childrens Aid Society in the County.

HHSS kickers split games

The Haliburton Highlands Secondary School soccer teams split a pair of games September 18 on their home pitch. The seniors defeated the visiting team from LCVI in Lindsay by a 2-1 margin while the juniors were shut out by the visitors 3-0.

Lasse Roslind scored the opening goal for the senior team with the assist going to Paul Milne. Paul notched the second marker for the seniors, scoring on a penalty kick.

It wasn't until late in the second half that Lindsay got onto the scoreboard, connecting with a penalty kick.

The two teams take to the field today (September 25) with home matches against Fenelon Falls. The senior game will be of particular interest since both teams are undefeated in the season. The first game gets underway at 2 p.m. with the junior game to follow.

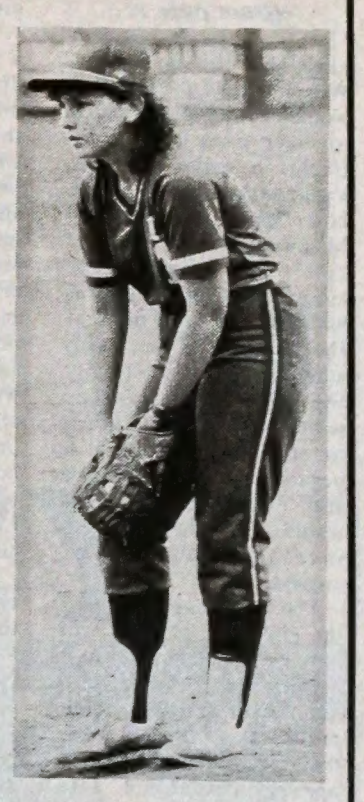
HHSS Junior soccer player Derek Allison challenges an LCVI opponent for control of the ball and wins during a regular season game last Wednesday afternoon. Both Redmen soccer teams take to the pitch this afternoon for games against Fenelon Falls.

Smith Going To Yankees?

New York Bound?

Rumours around the big leagues have it that the Yankees are going north to find help for their troubled pitching staff. Although no comment was available from Yankee skipper Billy Martin, sources say Smith had been scouted all summer long and impressed the Yankee scouts with her decisive pitching style and impressive win-loss record.

Commenting on the situation were Haliburton Junior's coaches Mike Hatkoski and Scott Arbuthnot, "We both feel that Marg could without question do the job for the Yankees and lead them to the World Series, but we feel that her dedication to the Canadian teams like the Juniors and Jays would keep her in Canada."



Whether Marg goes to the Yankees or not is a question that she will have to decide, but we know for sure that there's a place for her here.

Anti-impaired driving campaign

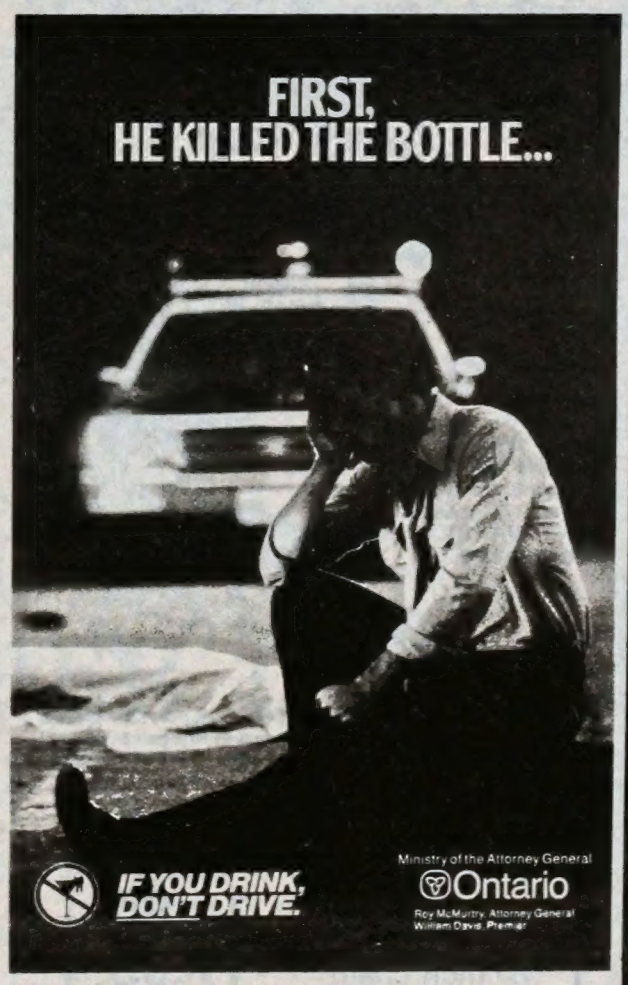
A group of O.P.P. officers in the Peterborough District (Minden, Coboconk, Lindsay, etc.) are involved in a project designed to combat drinking and driving. One part of the plan involves the poster depicted on the left. This graphic illustration is seen frequently on government bulletin boards and in newspapers and other publications.

Our idea is to move this illustration onto the highways where motorists will see and perhaps be moved by it. If persons who have been drinking and are now driving can be reminded at that point of the terrible consequences of their actions they may be more inclined to change their attitude.

We have permission to reproduce the illustration in the form of a sticker and our intention is to supply all transport and bus companies in the district. The stickers will be mounted on the rear of transport trucks and buses and thereby be displayed to the motoring public.

Our initial goal is to raise $7,000.00 for purchase of a sufficient quantity of these 18 x 24 inch stickers.

If you wish to help sponsor this campaign, please telephone Minden Detachment at 286-1431 and indicate how many $3.00 units (stickers) you are willing to pledge.



Thank you for your support.

Fish stocking

made by Reeve Fearrey, Wilson agreed the program would divert angler pressure to other lakes but did not foresee a major problem, arguing that anglers will fish other lakes in addition to Miskwabi Lake.

"I would estimate there are thirty lake trout lakes within a half hour drive of Haliburton," he said, adding, "There are twenty five lakes in Dysart alone with lake trout." He noted the stocking program which began in Miskwabi Lake and Loon Lake in 1964 would compensate for the increased number of anglers.

The MNR has considered the effect the closures will have on adjacent lakes and decided not to close a large number of lakes to avoid pressure on the few lakes that would have remained open Wilson said. He explained Drag Lake will be closed to winter fishing to increase the supply of naturally reproducing lake trout that are of "a unique genetic stock," whereas the population of lake trout in Miskwabi Lake and others in the region is the result of fish stocking programs and are not native to those lakes.

The proposed program will not be completely effective Wilson said, noting, "Not all lakes have the heaviest pressure in the winter. Some lakes are more heavily fished in the summer. For example, we have seen a lot of large female fish caught near the end of the summer in Drag Lake. However, we have noticed that an awful lot of small fish are caught in the winter. If these fish were allowed to grow, they would become big enough to eat herring. Right now we have too many herring in Drag Lake competing with the lake trout," he said.

Other ministry policy changes should make up for the closure of the lakes Wilson explained, noting as an example, the policy will provide for year round angling of rainbow trout.

While fishing is banned during the spawning season for most species, rainbow trout which were introduced to this region through stocking programs, show minimal natural reproduction, so the extension of the season will have little effect on overall populations.

Kickers help cancer research

submitted by Jim Milne

The Dixie Lee soccer team completed their Terry Fox tournament this weekend, September 21 and 22. They raised $70 for the cancer fund including a generous donation from the West Rouge Blues of Scarborough.

In the first game played Sunday, the high school Senior Redmen defeated Dixie Lee 1 - 0. Harvey Williams played goal for Dixie Lee against a large, enthusiastic high school team. Chris Childs was the referee.

On Saturday at 5 p.m., Dixie Lee defeated the West Rouge Blues 4 - 3. Tim Deremo played goal behind a team strengthened by a few high school players and a few college players who had returned for the day.

Mike Hatkoski scored twice for Dixie. Geoff Wynne was the referee.

In the last game on Sunday, the West Rouge Blues defeated the Senior Redmen 5 - 1.

The Blues used a few older Dixie Lee players, while the Redmen used a few younger Dixie Lee players. The visiting Blues were presented with Haliburton lapel pins to go with those obtained on tours in Thailand and Korea.

Dixie Lee hope to arrange a second game against the Senior Redmen on Sunday, September 29 at 2 p.m. New players who are interested should contact Jim Milne at 457-1848.

Dixie Lee are planning a tournament for over 35 years players next summer on the weekend of July 5 and 6. The highlight of this tournament will be a team from Denmark, not the Netherlands, as previously reported here.

Dixie Lee would like some help in showing this team a special time, including a night or two of camping outdoors. The West Range Blues, Dixie Lee and one or two other teams from the Muskoka District Soccer Association will probably also take part.

The HHSS Redmen evened their season record in a pair of games against the Brock Bulldogs in Cannington on Friday.

After winning the season opener in overtime against Fenelon Falls on Friday, September 13, the Senior Redmen went down to a 15 - 2 defeat at the hands of the Bulldogs.

After losing their first game of the season at home against Fenelon Falls, the Junior Redmen came up with a strong effort blanking Brock 16 - 0.

The Senior game got off to a promising start. Aided by a strong wind that affected play throughout the game, Alex Little put the ball in the end zone on the opening kickoff to give the Redmen a 1 - 0 lead. Still in the first quarter Alex added another point with a punt into the end zone. The teams switched ends with the Redmen ahead 2 - 1 in the duel between kickers.

Redmen quarterback Trevor Powers nearly broke the game wide open before half time when he carried the ball 70 yards on a sweep play before being stopped at the Brock 6 yard line.

With first and goal to go Haliburton surprised the Bulldogs with a pass play, but the throw was intercepted. Brock returned the ball to their 40 yard line.

The Redmen held off the Brock drive and came close to scoring on several occasions through the remainder of the first half and the third quarter but turnarounds nullified their offense.

Brock had the wind at their backs in the final quarter and used it to their advantage, scoring two quick touchdowns in the final four minutes of play to put the game out of reach at 15 - 2.

Coach Gary Brohman commended the defensive work of Peter Allore who came up with a fumble recovery and an interception and Gord Wood, who also intercepted a pass.

The coach commented the Senior Redmen will have their work cut out for them this year as all teams in the league are evenly matched.

Juniors strong

According to Coach Brohman, the Junior Redmen have emerged as a strong contender for the title, matched only by Fenelon Falls.

The Juniors had expected a tough battle against Brock after learning the Bulldogs had defeated I.E. Weldon 56 - 0 the previous week but the Redmen showed their mettle with a 16 - 0 victory.

The Juniors wasted no time in getting on the scoreboard.

After receiving the kick, they marched steadily downfield, then Jeff Francis caught a 15 yard pass from quarterback Ted Paish and went in for the touchdown. The two point conversion from Ted Paish to Craig Crowe gave the Redmen an 8 - 0 lead early in the game.

The Redmen came close to racking up their second TD late in the second quarter but the clock ran out.

In the third quarter, with the wind in their favour, Haliburton executed a determined offensive drive. Scott Russell, who replaced the injured Ted Paish teamed up with receiver Craig Crowe to move the Redmen to the Brock 8 yard line. On his ninth carry of the drive, Craig picked up his second touchdown of the game.

The two point conversion gave the Junior Redmen a 16 - 0 lead. Brock had the wind advantage in the final quarter, but unlike their Senior counterparts they were unable to score and the Redmen had their first win of the season.

The win was costly, however, as quarterback Ted Paish suffered torn ankle ligaments and Drew Mitchell injured his knee.

Coach Brohman commended the players for their strong effort, singling out Scott Russell, Ron Perrin, Brad Archer and Craig Crowe. The Redmen are on the road again this week, as they meet LCVI in Lindsay on Friday. The Senior game begins at 2 p.m. with the Junior game to follow.

Outdoors

reaching 1 1/2 inch caterpillars.

Cued by a hormonal clock, the caterpillar chooses some appropriate place to pupate, firmly attaches one end to the underside of the chosen spot using a silken thread, then jerks, bobs and squirms until its old skin sloughs off, to reveal an emerald green chrysalis with a row of gold dots down one side. Here, the monarch hangs, transforming a mere worm into the most spectacular of creatures. Many monarchs even overwinter in this form, and one of the most interesting places I have seen them is lined up like jewels at the edge of bridge underhangs.

Just before emerging, the monarch assumes its red and black colours, dramatic through the now-clear crysalis wall. It emerges over the course of the day, first with its wings crumpled and deflated and with a huge body. Hanging in the sun, it pumps the wings up, then dries them into their permanent unmistakable form. The adults feed on a wide variety of flower nectars - the plants bait for pollinating insects.

Every school child has wondered at the monarch, and most have watched in delight as these creatures go through their life's cycle. Watching provides the opportunity for dreams and fancies, and develops a reverence for wildlife which we adult folk take too often for granted.

From the milkweed which forms the caterpillar's sole diet, the monarch picks up a chemical which makes it taste simply awful to birds, which are butterflies' main predator. This unpalatability lasts right through the adults' life. Young birds will never touch them again. This rather useful adaptation has an interesting spin-off. The viceroy butterfly which looks remarkably like the monarch, but just a little smaller, is thoroughly palatable. After a couple of encounters with monarchs, birds won't touch viceroys either.

Interestingly, the monarch is one of the species which has benefited most by man. Three hundred years ago, with almost all the landscape forested, milkweed occurred only in burnt-over areas and monarchs were undoubtedly extremely rare.

In the past 1 1/2 centuries, man has converted vast areas to agriculture. And, our penchant for leaving great areas - roadsides, meadows, fields, etc. - fallow, provided ideal habitat for milkweed. And monarchs.

Rosenberg, Short lead Open

Ken Rosenberg of Haliburton and Bert Short of Minden led a field of 48 golfers in the fifth annual edition of The Times Autumn Open held Sunday at the Haliburton Highlands Golf Club. The 18 hole tournament was played under sunny and warm skies, near perfect conditions for the event.

Rosenberg led the pack with a low gross total of 72 over the 18 holes. Bert Short, who was playing in his first Times Autumn Open captured low net honours with a score of 87.

Repeating her win of last year, Do Kendall of Gooderham led the ladies with the low gross of the afternoon. Tournament organizer Keith Stephenson noted the increase in the number of ladies taking part this year with five participants.

Sherry Mullholland captured the ladies first low net score for the afternoon.

Bob Nicholls took second low gross honours with a score of 75, while the second low net went to Haliburton golfer Bob Colliver.

A 76 score from Leigh Bull gave him the third low gross while the third low net position went to J.D. Bishop.

Bill Howe of Cardiff took the fourth low gross, with a 76 while the fourth low net was won by Archie Anderson. Phil Smith was fifth low gross with a 77 and Ron Robinson had the fifth low net.

The longest drive of the afternoon went to Morris Domini.

The following is the order of finishers (low net) all who had an opportunity to select a prize for their efforts: Kevin Finch, Colin Wilson, Don Blakey, Rod Patterson, Nancy Brezina, Dave Scheneberg, Bob Hepplestone, Mike Vuksic, Mary Lou Bishop, Wayne Speicher, Dave Stevens, Ivy Shaw, Dick Davies, Randy Ellison, Lasse Roslind and Brian Fitzpatrick.

Following the afternoon of golf, the participants enjoyed a meal at Halimar Lodge on Lake Kashagawigamog.

HONDA DRIVES ALL TERRAIN TECHNOLOGY A GIANT STEP FORWARD.

We've done it by introducing four wheel drive on our newest FOURTRAX model. The go-everywhere FOURTRAX 4x4. And four wheel drive isn't the only thing that's new. There's an all-new high torque 350 cc four valve engine to deliver lots of smooth, strong power. There are newly designed high traction 24 inch tires. A five-speed transmission with super low first gear plus reverse. An electric starter. Maintenance-free shaft drive. Full front and rear suspension. When it comes to hard working all terrain four-wheelers, nothing has more drive than Honda's new four wheel drive FOURTRAX 4x4.

Writer shares his viewpoint during Rails' End lecture

A lecture by one of Canada's foremost nature writers, Ronald D. Lawrence on Sunday, was the first in a series of exhibitions and events at the Rails' End Gallery planned for the next four weeks.

Lawrence, the author of 18 books on nature and society, spoke to a group of thirty people on a wide range of topics.

Speaking on the general theme of Man and His Environment, Lawrence expressed his opinions on modern medicine, the decline of farming, hunting, city life, forestry, wolves and the subject of his soon to be released book "Sharks - Nature's Masterpiece."

While he is best known for his wildlife studies, he has written on social issues and politics. Lawrence believes the human race will not end because of a nuclear holocaust, but through the gradual destruction of the environment.

His experiences as a 14 year old soldier in the Republican Army during the Spanish Civil War and later during hte Second World War no doubt had a profound effect on his life and political outlook. Lawrence advocates a greater understanding of nature and wildlife, but is not a starry-eyed idealist preaching a return to the land.

He is aware of the struggle necessary to survive in primitive conditions, having lived off the land for a month as a gatherer rather than a hunter. While he admits to having killed small animals for food during a fourteen month canoe trip, he deplores sport hunting.

"I don't think it is sporting to kill something. I cannot take a life and think I am having fun. It is all right to kill for need, but if you want to do it for sport, take a camera with you. I hate euphemisms like "harvesting natural resources" that disguise the fact we are killing," he said.

From a general discussion on modern society, Lawrence turned his attention to the subject of sharks, a much maligned, but fascinating creature, that continues to baffle scientists.

He decided to write his forthcoming book on sharks because he felt, "The movie 'Jaws' was too much in the public eye and the writings of biologists too dry. I wanted to come up with something that is between those extremes."

At the conclusion of his thought-provoking lecture and discussion, he was asked why he had chosen to live in the Haliburton Highlands. He answered simply that he had seen the property advertised in the newspaper and had bought it.

The response spoke volumes on his practical outlook on life and his insistence on truth. But, that no-nonsense reply was tempered by his account moments later of a sighting of two Peregrine falcons near his home. Describing their activities, he revealed his wonder and excitement in observing another of nature's masterpieces.

The lecture by R.D. Lawrence was an auspicious beginning to the month's activities at the Rails' End Gallery.

In upcoming weeks, there will be a series of travel talks on Africa, Israel, China and the Far East, as well as museum tours, lectures on Acid Rain, early morning birdwalks and a slide show hosted by Bill Ivy whose colour photographs grace the walls of the gallery as part of an exhibition on wildlife.

For more information contact the gallery at 457-2330.

Striking an informal pose, author R.D. Lawrence discusses his views on modern society during a lecture at Rails' End Gallery on Sunday.

Charge laid following mishap

A charge of failing to yield the right of way has been laid against a Scarborough driver following an accident Saturday on Highway 121 just west of Ingoldsby.

According to police, 28 year old Roberta McDonald had driven her vehicle on to the roadway from a driveway, intending to drive in a westerly direction. As she completed the turn, the left rear corner of the car was struck by another vehicle driven by Ronald Christopher, 21, of Oshawa.

The collision resulted in $1500 damage to the Christopher vehicle and $3000 in damages to the McDonald truck.

McDonald and a passenger in her vehicle, 30 year old Leonard Ross of Scarborough, were treated for minor injuries following the mishap.

Constable Dave Rogers was the investigating officer.

Strikes rock

A motorcyclist received minor injuries when the trail bike he was driving left the Duck Lake Road and struck a rock Saturday afternoon. The 16 year old unidentified driver could face a number of charges as a result of the incident.

Police speculate that the youth was attempting to elude an OPP Constable who was on patrol in the area at the time. The motorcycle was unlicenced.

Constable Ken Wesley has charged the youth with careless driving and it is likely the driver will also face charges related to the licencing and insurance of the vehicle.

Injury

Another motorcyclist was inured when he lose control of his machine on Highway 121, four miles east of Minden.

Jim Crawford, 26, of Minden was travelling east when he failed to negotiate a curve and entered the ditch on the opposite side of the roadway.

The driver and passenger, 26 year old Jerry Janke of Haliburton, were treated for minor injuries at Minden hospital and released.

The motorcycle sustained $3000 damage and is considered a write-off.

Crawford has been charged with careless driving.

The accident was investigated by Constable Joe Dorricott.

I WILL BE A CANDIDATE FOR THE POSITION OF REEVE.
THANK YOU FOR YOUR CONSIDERATION.

GARY KENNEY 286-2817

OUR ROADS

Next to education costs, transportation needs represent our largest annual municipal expenditure. Ninety-five miles of roads require nearly one-half million dollars each year for maintenance and construction purposes. Approximately $200,000 is provided by the Province with consideration given to additional support of new equipment costs and special construction/improvement programs. Unfortunately equipment needs receive the lowest priority of consideration from the Ministry during the competition for extra district funds and only improvement programs within town-sites are eligible for Provincial support. Despite an estimated rural construction/improvement backlog of almost $2.5 million, the Province has to date required our Townships to tackle that job solely with the local taxes that remain after a 63% education contribution is removed. The estimated $900,000 backlog of village improvement needs however is eligible for up to one-half Provincial subsidy. Such are the rules by which our Townships must maintain and strive to improve 24.5 miles of hard-top and 70.5 miles of loose-top roads.

Be that as it may, in my opinion the area deserving the most attention with the greatest potential for improvement is under our own control, and has been the subject of much concern and badgering by this councillor over the past thirty-three months. Planning, budgeting, supervision, cost control, and employee accountability are not evident to the degree taxpayers should expect from a municipal department requiring over $1200 per day to operate. During my two years as Roads Committee Chairman several common-sense changes have been made that I feel are very real improvements. For the first time a Roads Needs Study has been completed that inventories and priorizes our road system according to traffic volume. For the first time a Purchasing Policy is being formulated to control unauthorized expenditures. For the first time Job Descriptions are being prepared that detail what employees may expect are the obligations of the Municipality and what is expected of them. For the first time a resident civil engineer has been placed on retainer as Municipal Engineer to assist our own forces and support applications to the Ministry for new construction/improvement projects. For the first time funds will be annually placed in reserve-accounts to purchase or repair worn equipment. For the first time private contractors have been hired to assist with winter snow removal and their costs compared to previous municipal expenses. For the first time a rural program has begun to hard-top selected gravel road sections built across difficult hills.

NEXT WEEK: More on our roads, lost dollars - efficiency and administration.

The Scotch Line landfill site could serve the residents of Minden and area for the next 12 to 15 years according to municipal engineer Godfrey Saunders, but without improved drainage, the site may have to be closed within a few years.

Saunders made his comments in a summary of the draft hydro-geologic survey of the landfill site at the regular meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden council on September 12.

The study began last year when Site Investigation Services drilled a series of test holes at the dump to study soil types, depths and water quality. Samples from the site and from neighbouring wells were studied during the winter for twenty indicators of contamination Saunder said.

This monitoring program will continue Saunders said, adding the tests to date have shown the rate of leachate formation on the site could be reduced.

By draining a pond on the property, the overall water levels could be reduced thus extending the life expectancy of the site. "Without the draining and more work, the site will not last as long. It may only last for a few years," he commented. Saunders estimated the cost of excavating the rock which traps water on the site at $8,000 for a project that will take up to three weeks.

The engineer confirmed funding is available from the Ministry of the Environment to cover half the cost of the project if the municipality provides an equal amount.

Citing the high cost of establishing another landfill site, Saunders recommended applying to the ministry for assistance for the excavation project which could begin this fall.

Reeve Lyle McKnight agreed work should be done on the Scotch Line landfill site to extend the life of the dump. Establishing a new site would be difficult and costly he noted, adding, the County Waste Management study carried out in 1982 showed there were few suitable sites available near Minden.

Saunders told council he would present his final report in October but recommended immediate action in applying for funds from the provincial government.

Council went along with the suggestion passing a resolution to apply for a $4000 grant to the Ministry of the Environment's Waste Management Program.

Be cautious about taking third hay crop this year

- Ag report -

There have been a number of calls this past week about taking a third cut of alfalfa at this time of year.

The fields have good top growth - in some cases, more growth than was present for the first or second cut. The weather this week has been as tempting for hay making as anytime during the year.

Many farmers are having trouble resisting the temptation to go ahead and cut. Before taking such a drastic move, you should consider the following. During the month of September, the alfalfa plant is putting food reserves down into the root system. These reserves are used to overwinter the plant and to begin new growth the following spring. If the plant is cut during September, it will start to grow again and reserves are going to be depleted.

The top growth can act as a snow fence in the winter, trapping snow and providing a protective insulating blanket for the roots and crowns of the alfalfa. This helps to prevent winterkill. This top growth will also allow air into the crown area should an ice condition exist during the dormant season.

Unless the hay is desperately needed, do not harvest alfalfa in the fall. If hay is required, wait until after hard frosts early in October when the alfalfa has gone dormant, to harvest it.

Deadline nears

October 1 is the deadline for farmers to enrol in the new 3 year income stabilization program for corn, soybeans, white beans, winter wheat and barley.

Ontario farmers growing any of these five crops have the opportunity of participating in an income stabilation program for the crops harvested in 1985, 1986 and 1987. Details of the program and application forms have been mailed directly to participants in the previous three years stabilization program.

New participants can obtain these forms from their county agricultural office. The deadline for submitting completed applications is October 1 - applications must be postmarked by that date to be acceptable.

Trent - Severn water level report

The decline of the Haliburton water levels resumed again in the week ending September 16. Quite dry conditions have occurred since the heavy rain of September 5 giving the lakes a chance to recede. A drop of about 4% occurred over the week to be 61.3% of maximum storage on the 16. This brought the stored water to be about 8% above the ten year average.

The drawdown of the lakes is expected to proceed at about 5% per week (averaged by all the lakes) to reach the ten year average by Thanksgiving. Wet weather might delay this, but dry weather would probably not make it decline much faster within the next two weeks.

A large part of the surplus is now gone from the Kawarthas and the flows were reduced sufficiently by the 16th to open all the remaining locks for navigation. The flow has been further reduced over the week until it is very near the inflow rate and these lakes have nearly stopped declining at a little less than their respective full levels.

Colours bring out antique cars

The Great Pine Ridge region of the Antique and Classic Car Club of Canada will hold their annual fall colour tour in the Highlands this weekend. The group will make Birch Point Lodge their headquarters from September 27 to 29.

Owners of vintage cars from the 1920's to the 50's will be in attendance.

In addition to tours through the Highlands to enjoy the coloured leaves, the beautifully restored vehicles will be on display for the public at the Beaverbrook Golf and Country Club this Friday from 2 to 4:30 p.m. and on Sunday at Birch Point Lodge from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. The owners will be pleased to point out the features of their vehicles and answer questions at these times.

This 1930 Durant DeLuxe Sedan will be one of a number to be seen this weekend in the Highlands.

The vehicle above is one of the antique cars which will participate in the event. It is a 1930 Durant Deluxe Sedan. This vehicle was produced on a special order and is the only one of its kind in existence. The car was manufactured at Durant Motors in Leaside.

Branch 129 news

The beef draw was held at the dance on Saturday night. 'Cimmeron' provided the music for dancing.

G. Hore and G. Wolsley of Haliburton each won a hind quarter of beef.

K. Barber of Tory Hill and Betty Dionne of Minden each won a front quarter of beef.

Winners of 25 lb parcels of beef were David Hebert of Scarborough, Nelson Dionne of Minden, Dean Cooper of Surrey B.C., and Wes Jeandron of Toronto.

Congratulations to all the winners.

For further information and site inspection, contact B. W. Vanasse, Ontario Hydro, Box 210, Minden, Ontario, K0M 2K0. 286-2031.

ONTARIO HYDRO

POWER INTERRUPTION

Sunday, October 6th, 1985
Time: 7 a.m. - 10 a.m.

In order to change the insulators on Halls Lake D.S. it will be necessary to interrupt power at the following locations:

Hwy. 35 North from North of Carnarvon to and including The Leslie Frost Centre, North Shore of Maple Lake and Beech Lake from Airport Road to Hwy. 35, Boshkung Lake (except south end), Kushog Lake, Hindon Lake, Brady Lake, Halls Lake, Little Hawk Lake, Big Hawk Lake, Three Brothers Lake, Saskatchewan Lake, Peach Lake, Upper Welch Lake, Lower Welch Lake, St. Nora's Lake and all points in between.

Alternate date: Sunday, October 20, 1985 - same time.

Election hoopla surrounding the selection of the prime minister of the Archie Stouffer Elementary School students' council reached a new height Thursday with this colourful display on the school's front lawn. Candidate Stu Mills, with the assistance of his father brought a large army truck complete with PA system and piano to entertain the students as they arrived for morning classes. Stuart, seen at the back of the truck, discovered later in the day that the extra effort paid off as he was elected to the post for 1985-86.

Minden Women's Institute

The September meeting of Minden Women's Institute was held at the Library/Cultural Centre on the 18th with Mrs. C. Lacey, president, in charge. After the usual opening, all observed a moment of silence following Amazing Grace in honour of our deceased member Mrs. Allan Taylor.

Three guests were made welcome and one later joined and Mrs. Grant of Blue Lake and Auburn Branch brought greetings.

The Roll Call of a hat made from kitchen items was amusing - those who had no hat paid a fine and judged the hats and Doris McCall won a little gift for her creation. There were 22 ladies present.

Reports were read including one by Mrs. Kernohan telling us of the meat matters course and our bake sale. Mrs. Moore sent her card report with Mrs. Coulter and told of sending 36 cards since mid-June. Collections for the card fund and Pennies for Friendship were taken. Correspondence was read and we will not participate in Victoria County United Way.

A donation of $25 is going toward the Art Scholarships awarded to public school children through this county's Guild of Fine Arts. Plans will be made at the next meeting for the district tea. Our delegate to the area convention at the Royal York in Toronto in November will be Mrs. C. Lacey.

The Convenor of Family and Consumer Affairs, Mrs. A. Coulter, then read a paper on regular drugs sold across the counter. This was very enlightening and she concluded with a joke.

Mrs. Lacey read the programme for October 16 and Mrs. D. Berry offered to fill in one place. Happy Birthday was sung, God Save the Queen and W.I. Grace brought the meeting to a close. All enjoyed a social half hour and the snacks served by the committee.

Straight talk on vitamins

"My daughter is stuffing the medicine cabinet with vitamins I've never heard of before. What's going on here?"

Your daughter is probably concerned about the adequacy of her diet. Many Canadians are. As a result, consumer demand for a wider variety of vitamin formulations has been jumping. Vitamin therapy has also become one of the liveliest medical specialties.

You can get your vitamins from a balanced diet or from manufactured vitamins. It's really up to you, but you need them every day.

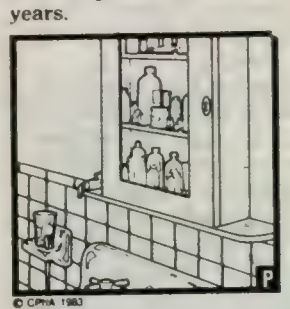
Vitamin labels can be confusing. MDR means "minimum daily requirement", RDA means "recommended dietary allowances". IU is the international unit of measurement and refers to vitamin strength.

Therapeutic doses of vitamins are used to treat certain deficiency states or diseases under a doctor's care. They can be several times the MDR, which is always a very low dose.

Supplemental doses of vitamins supplement the diet by providing further amounts of vitamins. Supplemental doses are not megavitamins. Megavitamin dosage refers to amounts 10 times or more beyond the MDR of two or more vitamins.

Vitamins are divided into two classes — water-soluble vitamins (C and B's) and fat-soluble vitamins (A,D,E, and K).

Water-soluble vitamins must be supplied every day because they are not stored in the body. Excess amounts of water-soluble vitamins are excreted in the urine. Excess amounts of fat-soluble vitamins are not excreted; they are stored in the liver and fatty tissues. Therefore it's possible to overdose on fat-soluble vitamins if taken in large quantities and/or taken over a period of several years.



© CPhA 1983

Overdose symptoms are many and diverse. Some are serious. Ask your pharmacist to tell you about any possible side effects.

Minerals are not vitamins, but they also play an important role in normal body function. Some important ones are iron, calcium, magnesium, iodine, and potassium. Excessive mineral intake, too, can lead to overdose. For example, iron overdose is associated with such symptoms as nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, drowsiness.

Almost all vitamins and minerals are available in multivitamin combinations, as well as separately. A balanced multivitamin product may be the best initial choice for the family medicine cabinet. Individual vitamins can then be added prudently.

Consider cost factors when buying vitamins. On most labels, you'll find the words "natural" or "synthetic". Both are exactly the same chemically. Cost is the only difference.

If shelves of vitamins still confuse you, ask your pharmacist for advice. Questions about diet, health, and pocketbook are worth asking any day.

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off in the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Dear Readers: Another week has passed and gone since we penned a line to you. I guess we better get busy and see what we can do.

Watched movies over the weekend to keep us entertained. It's good to have the staff back with us Monday again. Edna Cowan left on Saturday for a two week holiday with her daughter down Mississauga way.

Our sympathy we would like to convey to the family and relatives of Lilly Hogg's sister-in-law Jean Taylor who recently passed away.

Sorry to miss Chapel service Sunday night, but we had company and to leave them wouldn't seem just right. I see our girls have a quilt set up in the craft room again to keep their quilters busy, but I won't mention any names.

Linda showed us movies Monday night which were really good to see, "Hand Crafts of Nova Scotia," "Blue Birds of Happiness" and "Close Harmony".

I am moving from room 103 to 105, two ladies are moving into 103, so much is happening in this place we hardly know where to begin. Tuesday morning Evelyn Coleman conducted a service this lovely September day, brought a very impressive message, thank you for coming and Fred Ballard the music to play.

Tuesday noon Doris said if you kids will promise not to kick up a fuss, we will take you for a ride on the Hyland Crest bus. So we piled in, how many I didn't count the faces. Linda came along to keep us in our places. Harry and Jean Cowan came along, Jean to look after her mother Mrs. Gilbank and Harry is a great help on these bus trips. He brought along a lovely basket of grapes for which we give him thanks. It was a lovely drive down through Kirkfield way, but we got lost it seems but Doris brought us safely back and we were treated to ice cream. We had a pleasant afternoon, it all seemed like a dream. We played them some harmonica tunes. We thank our girls and volunteers for a pleasant afternoon.

Tuesday evening our musicans came - Gordon, Mervan, Murray and Shirley. Gordon had an appointment elsewhere so left early. They entertained us royally with music and with song. We hope they will come back to us before too long.

The Anglican ladies from Kinmount this Thursday afternoon brought and served a delicious lunch, then Ken Hymas played some good old tunes for a sing song which was really fine. Thank you for coming and giving of your time.

No bingo callers Thursday night and we just don't know when it might start up again. Doris read to us from 3:30 until 5:00 again to keep us entertained, and by the way Dale Aransey came to call on Teddy Carr, just the other day.

Down at fun and fitness playing the horseshoe game as we did many times before, Harold Hogg made the highest score. I don't think I ever mentioned Mike Elder's name before, now here is a real man always willing to come and help anyway he can.

Watched a very interesting movie Friday afternoon we have watched many movies and viewed many shows, but this one was the best, "Where the Red Fern Grows."

Good - better - best
May you never rest
'Til your good is better
And your better is best.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to thank everyone, friends and relatives for the flowers, phone calls, visits and cards, their thoughts and prayers, following the sudden death of my husband Ellwood Johnston and to Gord Monk's Funeral Home for all the help and thoughtfulness they shared in our time of sorrow.
Ruby Johnston & family

We, the sponsors of the Local Yokels Golf Tournament, would like to thank the following companies and individuals for their contributions: Dollo's I.G.A., Big Jer's, Northland Sales, Home Hardware, HomeAll Building Centre, Prentice Roads, Highlands TV, Curry Motors, Case Realty Ltd., Bath's Esso Station, Rockcliffe Tavern and Bill Payne Real Estate. Special thanks to Molson's Breweries, Hiram Walkers Distillers, Blairhampton Golf Course and Billy and Dave Shuyler. 9D

IN MEMORIAM

HARRISON: In loving memory of a very dear sister-in-law Laura who passed away September 29, 1984.

Dearest Laura I will never forget you
Memories are so sweet and beautiful
All the love and thoughtfulness you bestowed on everyone
Oh how good you were to me
Through all the years you were
Like a loving mother to me
True hearts that in life always loved you
Will love you in death just the same.

Always remembered by sister-in-law Alice.

With your support cancer can be beaten.

IN MEMORIAM

HARRISON: Laura - in memory of Mother who passed away September 29, 1984.
Time doesn't heal the heartache
Nor stop the silent tear
Or take away the memories
Of the Mother I loved so dear.
Sadly missed by son Harold.

HARRISON: Laura - who passed away September 29, 1984.
We think of you in silence
And often speak your name
All we have is a picture in a frame
Our hearts still ache in sadness
And silent tears still flow
For what it meant to lose you
No one will ever know.
Sadly missed by sisters Annie, Mae, Earnie and Harry.

IN MEMORIAM

MISCIO: In loving memory of my dear father and grandfather Mike Miscio who passed away September 25, 1972, and in loving memory of a dear uncle, Carl Miscio, who passed away September 23, 1979.

Memories are like threads of gold
They never tarnish or grow old
As you were, you will always be
Cherished forever in my memory.
Lovingly remembered and sadly missed, Nell.
